NFRW Congratulates Conway as First Woman to Run Successful Presidential Bid

ALEXANDRIA, Va. - The National Federation of Republican Women (NFRW) congratulates the first woman to run a successful bid for the Presidency of the United States of America, Kellyanne Conway.

"We could not express our gratitude to Kellyanne with enough accolades or sentiments to meet her immense ability and the historic victory of which she was a huge part," NFRW President Carrie Almond said. "We have worked with Kellyanne and have the highest respect for her. Now, we rejoice in her hard work and take joy in her accomplishment."

"Kellyanne is proof that President-elect Trump knows how to pick excellent people to help him lead," Almond continued. "We can't wait to see what the future holds for her. We hope she will be a part of the Trump Presidency, and our Federation will do whatever we can to help Trump and Kellyanne in whatever path rises up to meet them. The NFRW drove Rosie over a good portion of the nation to show our support of our Republican nominee, and we women are ready to drive home the conservative, American values that President-elect Trump and his team will usher in on day one!"

NFRW recognizes the great accomplishments of women across this nation and offers opportunities within our organization to further leadership and political involvement on a multitude of levels. Join a local club to start your journey with us. President Almond makes this observation, "The 'ride' in political life is always an adventure; come along and work beside us!"

Founded in 1938, the NFRW proudly represents the party that first made it possible for women to vote in the U.S. Today, the NFRW works to increase the effectiveness and relevance of women in the cause of good government. Our mission remains to recruit and elect Republican candidates, promote the principles of the Republican Party, educate the public and inform the media.
